

Gender Transition Surgery: Dreams Turned to Nightmares

[Section Editor's Note: Satan accomplishes depopulation by many means. He expected that his COVID-19 "vaccines" would have a greater impact before their fraud was exposed and his trickery was unraveled. Transgenderism is the latest assault on human existence, with its genital mutilation—and the resulting infertility—being relentlessly pushed on children. As The Messenger of Allah told Minister Farrakhan, "You can't fathom the Depths of Satan." In the two-part article below (originally published with complete references at Mercola.com), Dr. Joseph Mercola expertly presents some of the satanic realities of transgenderism.

Disclaimer: The article below is the commentary of Dr. Joseph Mercola and is not personal health advice.]

While children are increasingly lured into "gender-affirming" therapy and even surgery, they have no idea of what they are facing. Many grownups have no clue either.

Most clear-headed adults would realize that surgically and chemically altering your anatomy from male to female, or female to male, is a complex and painful process. The problem is that it's typically not level-headed adults making the decision to undergo gender reassignment. It's primarily children who are being pushed into it, and they have no idea what they're getting themselves into. Many adults don't even realize how difficult and painful it will be.

All it takes for a young girl to start the gender transition process to become a boy is a letter of support from a therapist. Typically, the therapist will write a letter of support after just one or two visits. Next, she'll be sent to an endocrinologist who, after a single visit, will prescribe her testosterone.

While that's alarmingly lax enough, some gender transition centers have cut through even that tiny bit of red tape. Some don't require any kind of mental health assessment, and a number of Planned Parenthood clinics are apparently handing out hormone replacement therapy (HRT) prescriptions on the first visit.

Hormone Replacement Therapy (HRT) Is Not Harmless

While some pro-trans advocates insist that HRT is harmless and completely reversible once you quit taking the hormones, this simply isn't true. The effects of testosterone on a girl can be both profound and permanent and can be seen within a matter of months. Effects of high-dose testosterone treatment include:

- Voice deepening
- Facial hair growth
- Hair loss, receding hairline, balding
- Increased libido
- Sexual dysfunction
- Increased aggression and unpredictable moods
- Sterility
- Enlargement of clitoris
- Vaginal atrophy

Many of these changes persist even if you completely stop taking testosterone. Can a child or teenager fully comprehend what sterility might mean to them later in life? I don't think so. I also don't think they can comprehend how other physical and emotional changes might affect them, such as going bald.

Other types of hormone therapy include puberty blockers, which are given to children who have not yet entered puberty. These drugs delay the onset of sex characteristics associated with the gender you were assigned at birth.

What's particularly shocking is that the adults steering them toward gender reassignment don't make it a point to thoroughly inform them about the difficulties they might face. Overall, I don't think children and teens are capable of making the decision to transition, and encouraging or facilitating it really ought to be illegal.

Double-Mastectomies Performed at 15

While you're considered too immature to get a full, unrestricted driver's license until you're 18, and can't drink alcohol until you're 21, "gender-affirming" sex hormone therapy can begin as early as 14, girls who think they're boys can get a double-mastectomy at the age of 15, and full sex reassignment surgery is available at age 17 or 18, depending on the procedure, although the World Professional Association for Transgender Health is advocating for surgeries as early as 15.

The Boston Children's Hospital requires you to be 17 to undergo vaginoplasty, where a boy's penis, testicles and scrotum are removed and a vagina is created, and 18 to undergo phalloplasty, the surgical construction of a penis, or metoidioplasty, where testosterone is used to enlarge the clitoris, from which a small penis is then constructed. Prosthetic testicles are also added in both of those cases.

Understanding Female-to-Male Reassignment Surgery

When a biological woman decides to surgically become a man, she'll undergo phalloplasty, which involves taking large sections of skin from her forearms and/or thigh to fashion a penis. This will leave a very large unsightly scar on one or both forearms, and while the donation site heals, there's always a risk of infection.

Since the donation site needs to be hairless, electrolysis must first be performed. If electrolysis fails and hair grows back in the donated skin, the trans male may struggle with painful hair growth inside his urethra for the rest of his life.

Trans men who are on testosterone also face gynecological challenges, especially vaginal dryness, and vaginal atrophy, which can be very painful. Pelvic pain and bacterial vaginosis are other commonly reported issues.

Understanding Male-to-Female Reassignment Surgery

During vaginoplasty, which is where a biological male surgically transitions to female, the surgeon will use skin from the patient's scrotum to create a vaginal canal. If additional skin grafts are needed, they'll use skin from the sides of their abdomen.

Before the skin grafts are taken, he must undergo electrolysis on the chosen donor sites. However, electrolysis does not always permanently eliminate hair growth, especially not male hair growth, which tends to be more profuse, and if the hair grows back, the trans male can end up with hair growing in his vaginal canal.

Vaginoplasties aren't always successful, and if they must be redone, a part of the patient's colon will typically be used instead. A downside of this procedure, called colovaginoplasty, is an offensive discharge odor.

After vaginoplasty, the patient must then dilate the vagina on a daily basis. This basically entails stretching (dilating) the vagina using a lubricated dildo to prevent it from sealing shut. Your body basically views this new opening as a wound and will do what it can to heal it. Trans women must do this several times a day for the rest of their lives.

Dreams That Nightmares Are Made Of

Dilation is one of the challenges of male-to-female sex reassignment surgery (SRS) that most people underestimate. Here's one testimony included in the informative video "TRANS HORROR: THE UNSPOKEN TRUTH (The HORRORS of TRANSITIONING!)" by WhatsHerFace Entertainment (youtube.com/watch?v=pmARroLwhI8), which dives into the "unspoken reality of transgender sexual reassignment surgery and all of the pain, regret and horrors it entails."

"Three months ago, I started this 'dream' (nightmarish hell) that is SRS ... Dilating is Hell, everything is sensitive or sore, my ... leg movements are, while better than before, still pretty limited. I feel constant stinging and burning sensations pretty much around the clock in my crotch area.

This is probably the most suicidal I've ever been since before I actually transitioned. This 'vaginal canal' (which is actually a fing open wound) has given me nothing but grievances and Jesus f am I tired of it.

I've actually been considering asking my surgeon whether or not it's possible to just close this pseudo-vaginal canal or just get rid of it all together. I wish somebody had told me even just a third of what a hellride this was going to be. But nobody did. And now I'm stuck with this nightmare.

I'm pretty much considering just stopping dilation. 'The canal will shrink,' so what? Maintaining it is pretty much keeping my whole ... life prisoner of this thing. While I didn't like what I had before, at all, it still allowed me freedom ... For comparison, this shit is like going from parole straight into solitary confinement."

Sure, you might think, but that's just recovery. Eventually, all will be well. Maybe, maybe not. Here are the words of a trans female who is still struggling three years after her vaginoplasty.

Parents Are Removed From the Equation

Consider those words, and then consider that pro-trans ideology is now being openly taught in kindergarten through high school across the U.S. Children are being brainwashed into thinking they can choose their own gender and that it's as easy to switch genders as it is to switch clothes. It's not.

Yet, the horrors of SRS are being so well hidden that neither parents nor their trans children understand what's in store, both in the short and long term. While there are cases where everything goes right and the boy or girl finally feels "complete" after SRS, there seem to be far more cases where they end up even more miserable.

What's worse, some states, like Washington, are considering laws that severely infringe on parent's rights to be involved in their child's decision to transition. In that state "lawmakers debated Senate Bill 5599, which creates an exemption for the state that grants it the right to not be required to notify parents of minors who have left their homes because their parents wouldn't let them pursue gender transition medical procedures ...

... Republican state Rep. Chris Corry told The Epoch Times that, under the bill, a disagreement between a child and parents over the child's desire for a medical transition constitutes 'abuse and neglect,' only because the parent hasn't 'properly affirmed what the child wants.'"

In an upcoming edition, Dr. Mercola uncovers the psychological methods of transgender indoctrination acting upon youthful minds through social media.

Overuse of Hand Sanitizer, Disinfectants Causing Lasting Harms

The widespread use of hand sanitizers and disinfectants during the COVID Depopulation Drive is spurring health problems and harming the environment.

The Environmental Health News quotes Prof. Erica Hartmann, co-author of a new study examining the dangers of disinfectants: "It's ironic that the chemicals we're deploying in vain for one health crisis are actually fueling another. Quaternary ammonium compounds, or quats, are used in disinfectants and personal care products including baby wipes, eye drops, hair conditioners, fabric softeners and other products."

The study "found that the compounds are linked to asthma, dermatitis, inflammation, infertility, birth defects and other problems. They can also harm aquatic life and cause antimicrobial resistance, which can make drug-resistant viruses and bacteria." "Antimicrobial resistance was already contributing to millions of deaths per year before the pandemic," Hartmann said. "Overzealous disinfection, especially with products containing [quats], threaten to make it worse."

The Defender article by Brian Bienkowski points out that people are mostly exposed via their skin and breathing quats, but food and water could be other potential sources of exposure. Certain professions, including housekeepers, food or medical equipment preparation, dental assistants and nurses, are more highly exposed. Children and teachers may also have elevated exposure because disinfectant wipes are often used on children's school desks.

The most common quat is benzalkonium chloride, but if you see ingredients on labels that end in "ammonium chloride," there are probably quats in the product.

The study's authors recommend not using quat-containing compounds when the chemicals are unnecessary. "Soap and water usually do the trick. In fact, it will make our homes, classrooms, offices, and other shared spaces healthier."

"Now the whole world knows there is a direct causal connection between these products and the deaths of thousands of people, along with hundreds of thousands of adverse events (injuries) in this country alone....Even more shocking is that these numbers are being dismissed as inconsequential or coincidental....In addition, they are people who were simply living their lives until they were coerced and cajoled by the government into subjecting themselves to fatal injury."

Supreme Court Justice Slams COVID Policies

Supreme Court Justice Neil Gorsuch wrote a scathing overview of how civil liberties were trampled during the COVID-era:

"Fear and the desire for safety are powerful forces. They can lead to a clamor for action—almost any action—as long as someone does something to address a perceived threat....A leader or an expert who claims he can fix everything, if only we do exactly as he says, can prove an irresistible force. We do not need to confront a bayonet, we need only a nudge, before we willingly abandon the nicety of requiring laws to be adopted by our legislative representatives and accept rule by decree."

Gorsuch said that the U.S. may "have experienced the greatest intrusions on civil liberties in the peacetime history of this country."

"Executive officials across the country issued emergency decrees on a breathing-taking scale. Governors and local leaders imposed lockdown orders forcing people to remain in their homes. They shuttered businesses and schools, public and private. They closed churches even as they allowed casinos and other favored businesses to carry on. They threatened violators not just with civil penalties but with criminal sanctions too. They surveilled church parking lots, recorded license plates, and issued notices warning that attendance at even outdoor services satisfying all state social-distancing and hygiene requirements could amount to criminal conduct. They divided cities and neighborhoods into color-coded zones, forced individuals to fight for their freedoms in court on emergency timetables, and then changed their color-coded schemes when defeat in court seemed imminent."

Top Brazilian Doctor Says "Health" Agencies Fraudulently Rewrote Medical Protocols

Dr. Alessandro Loiola, MD (@AlessandroLoiolo2) has practiced medicine in Brazil for 27 years and treated thousands of patients with symptoms of "COVID-19." He tweeted on May 14, 2023:

Until today, even after 25 years of medical practice, more than 150,000 patients treated, more than 20 books published (2 of which [are] specifically about the Covid19 pandemic), I still cannot understand the pathophysiology that underlies the narrative of someone "non-vaccinated" put[ting] the health of someone "vaccinated" at risk.

This speech NEVER existed for pneumococcus, meningococcus, diphtheria, measles, tetanus, pertussis, polio, smallpox or yellow fever, for example, but it is considered "legitimate" when it comes to SARS-CoV-2. Did someone simultaneously rewrite all the pathology, infectology, microbiology, immunology and epidemiology textbooks?

There are now 79 with 200 more on the way....Dr. Pierre Kory goes before Congress, begs them to let him save people's lives with Ivermectin. And he can't understand why they don't do it, because he didn't understand the Rockefellers and the Flexner Report—he didn't know any of that....And he says now and he stands by this statement 'and will do so to my grave': 'If I had young children today, not one would get even a single childhood vaccine.' Not one. Pierre Kory is one of the top two intensive-care physicians in the entire world."

1.63 million ‘excess deaths’ among Blacks compared to white Americans since 1999

Depopulators are rejoicing at the results of a new study that shows that there were 1.63 million “excess deaths” among Black Americans compared to whites in the last 20 years. “Excess deaths” is an estimate of how many Black Americans died compared to what would have happened if Black people experienced the same death rate as white Americans in that same time period. The medical journal JAMA Network estimates that 997,673 excess deaths occurred among Black males and 628,464 excess deaths occurred among Black females.

According to the study, heart disease in both sexes and cancer rates in males were major contributing factors. These maladies were exacerbated by the “pandemic,” when the death rate abruptly increased.

According to the study’s author, César Caraballo, “The abrupt worsening of these disparities in the first year of the pandemic indicates that current efforts to eliminate mortality disparities have been minimally effective and that progress has been fragile.”

DePopulation Alert

Chelsea Clinton (in photo) is now the public face of a poison-pushing “vaccination program” of the World Health Organization and depopulation advocate Bill Gates targeting Black children, called “The Big Catch-Up.” The COVID-19 “vaccine” failed to penetrate Africa after Minister Farrakhan’s warning to the leaders on that continent. The result was that African nations had the lowest death rate and lowest vaccination rate on earth. Chelsea Clinton held several events pushing the COVID “jab”—an injection that has killed at least 35,000 people and hospitalized 200,000 just in America, while having absolutely no effect on COVID-19. New data shows that it actually has NEGATIVE efficacy—meaning that those who took it are now more vulnerable to death and disease than those who refused.

Having failed to meet their quota of injected “non-whites,” the WHO with its newly launched mass-vax program is targeting “Millions of children who missed routine vaccinations during the pandemic”—in Afghanistan, Angola, Brazil, Cameroon, Chad, Ethiopia, India, Indonesia, Nigeria, Pakistan, Philippines, Somalia, Madagascar, Mexico, Mozambique, Myanmar, Tanzania, Viet Nam.

In future issues we will ask medical experts to examine this mass injection program by these known depopulators, to ascertain whether Blacks should get Caught-Up in “The Big Catch-Up.”

Depopulation By the Numbers: UK Data Show Sharp Increase in Excess Deaths

It is now evident in many nations a sharp increase in excess deaths NOT RELATED to the “COVID-19 virus.”

Data from the United Kingdom’s Office for National Statistics and Office for Health Improvement and Disparities, show that between May and December 2022, 32,441 more deaths than usual were recorded that exclude COVID-19 as a cause of death. In the week ending April 21, 2023, the number of deaths exceeded the five-year average by 22.1% (2,540 excess deaths), while in the week ending April 28, the excess figure was 12.9% (1,569 excess deaths). Only 3.8% of deaths during this period mentioned COVID-19 in the death certificates.

John Campbell, Ph.D., author of two nursing textbooks, analyzed the data and noted that these data “are raising serious questions as to why so many died.” Calling the 4,190 excess deaths recorded in the last two weeks of April “a huge amount,” Campbell likened the figure to the death toll from a terrorist attack [3,000 died in the 9/11 incident of 2001]. He also compared the attention a terrorist act would have received to the lack of attention the excess deaths appear to be receiving. He said: “Just imagine this was a terrorist attack [where] 4,190 people were killed. It would be a state of war.”

Top Vaccine Expert Admits Aborted Human Fetuses Used in Vaccine Creation

Virologist Dr. Stanley A. Plotkin wrote the standard textbook on vaccines. He worked in the Congo to recruit millions of Black African child “volunteers” for dozens of mass trials with experimental vaccines that were considered too risky to test on white children. In a January 11, 2018, sworn legal deposition (see excerpt below) Plotkin admitted to using human fetuses in the creation of vaccines.

QUESTION: So this study involved 74 fetuses, correct?

PLOTKIN: Seventy-six.

Q: And these fetuses were all three months or older when aborted, correct?

PLOTKIN: Yes.

Q: And these were all normally developed fetuses, correct?

PLOTKIN: Yes.

Q: These included fetuses that were aborted for social and psychiatric reasons, correct?

PLOTKIN: Correct.

Q: What organs did you harvest from these fetuses?

PLOTKIN: Well, I didn’t personally harvest any, but a whole range of tissues were harvested by co-workers.

Q: And these pieces were then cut up into little pieces, right?

PLOTKIN: Yes.

Q: And they were cultured?

PLOTKIN: Yes.

Q: Some of the pieces of the fetuses were pituitary gland that were chopped up into pieces.

PLOTKIN: Mm-hmm.

Q: Included the lung, skin, kidney, spleen, heart and tongue of the fetuses?

PLOTKIN: Yes.

Q: So I just want to make sure I understand. In your entire career—this was just one study. So I’m going to ask you again, in your entire career, how many fetuses have you worked with approximately?

PLOTKIN: Well, I don’t remember the exact number, but quite a few when we were studying them originally before we decided to use them to make vaccines.

Q: Some of these (fetuses) were in psychiatric institutions, correct? I’m just asking you, some of the fetuses that you did use did come from abortions from people who were in psychiatric institutions, correct?

PLOTKIN: I don’t know that. What I’m telling you is that I got them from a co-worker; and if it’s stated in the paper, it’s true. But, otherwise, I do not know.
